

P.J. Warwick

P.J. and Laurie, his wife and first mate, along with Rock-it, their adventurous seafaring greyhound, frequently cruise the Chesapeake Bay. Their boat, Harmony, is berthed at Herrington Harbour South where they have been slip holders for 10 years.

P.J. and Laurie joined HBYC in April 2023 after attending the “Cruising the Bay” seminar hosted by HBYC in February. They were excited about HBYC’s energy and camaraderie that came through in the seminar and decided that they wanted to be a part of HBYC. And being recent empty nesters helped everything line up perfectly. Since joining, P.J. and Laurie have enjoyed cruises and land events where they have been enthralled by their new friendships as well as HBYC’s friendly and fun culture.

P.J. is an advocate for safe and respectful boating practices as well as protection and stewardship of the Chesapeake. He enjoys a DIY approach to boat maintenance and repair and takes projects as far as he can before calling the pros. He’s always learning and anxious to exchange information and ideas with other boaters.

He recently retired from a career in consulting after building and leading a practice of over 80 professionals focused on advising executives and boards of directors on matters of organizational governance, risk management, internal control, and process improvement. Among his keys to success are inclusive leadership, recruiting, and team development. He listens with interest and coordinates the team to get things done.

P.J. is excited about the prospect of bringing his time, energy, and experience to serve HBYC as Vice Commodore. He believes that his professional experience in governance and risk advisory is particularly applicable to the Vice Commodore’s role of chairing the Bylaws and Code of Conduct Committee. He also values the Communications Committee and Club House Custodial Committee’s roles in keeping us connected and bringing us together as a community. He understands the importance of the Vice Commodore’s role in assisting the Commodore in whatever capacity is needed and is anxious to serve in this regard. Additionally, P.J. looks forward to bringing the relationships that he and Laurie have built in the local boating community to recruit new members and increase active participation in all aspects of HBYC. He is also excited to bring his business experience to bear to help enhance HBYC’s public profile through its website and social media.
